Message from the Principal

Dear Parents,

On behalf of Burhani School I heartily welcome you and Thank you, for entrusting us for your beloved children’s schooling. Hope we will have a fruitful association.

As we discussed in the Orientation Program , parents are a child's first teachers and play a crucial role in their development. Parents essentially provide emotional support, love, and care to help children feel secure and confident. It’s important that parents provide opportunities to their young ones for learning and exploration, such as reading books, playing games, and engaging in creative activities.

Parents can also model positive behaviours and attitudes, such as kindness, respect, and responsibility, which can help children develop these traits as well. We at Burhani Pre primary school undertake to be responsible for providing a nurturing and supportive environment in the classroom. This includes creating a safe and welcoming space, establishing positive relationships with students, and providing opportunities for learning and growth. Our Teachers shall endeavour to help children develop social and emotional skills, such as empathy, communication, and problem solving, through activities such as group projects, discussions, and role-playing.

Finally, teachers can work with parents to create a coordinated approach to nurturing children, sharing information and insights about the child's progress and needs.

We have a conducive school environment which provides a variety of learning opportunities, resources and support for children to learn and grow. This includes well-equipped classrooms, libraries, playgrounds, and extra-curricular activities. Similarly a conducive home environment can provide a supportive and nurturing atmosphere for children to feel safe and comfortable. This includes a clean and organized home, healthy meals, and opportunities for family time and bonding.

In summary, parents, teachers, and a conducive school and home environment all play critical roles in the early nurturing of children, providing support, opportunities for learning, and a safe and supportive atmosphere for all round development of the child.

Thank you for your continued support.

With Regards,

Principal
